

Thank you very much

Man Hello, I'm Brian Jones. I'm a detective.

Cindy Hello!

Man Do you know anything about a thief on this street?

Cindy No, I don't. What does he steal?

Man Expensive cars. He knocks on the door, says hello and asks for a glass of water. People often leave their car keys in the hall. He then takes the glass, drinks and says "Thank you very much". Then he leaves with the keys in his pocket. Oh, by the way, have you got a piece of paper? I need to write something down.

Cindy Yes, one moment!

She goes into the kitchen and comes back.

Cindy Here you are!

Man Thank you very much! Now you watch out for thieves. Bye!

Cindy The keys! They're gone. Stop! Thief! Call the police!

- much – mycket
- thief, thieves – tjuv, tjuvar
- What does he steal? – Vad stjal han?
- expensive – dyr
- ask for – be om
- key – nyckel

- pocket – ficka
- by the way – förresten
- a piece of paper – ett papper, en papperslapp
- need – behöva
- One moment! – Ett ögonblick!

- she goes – hon går
- Here you are! – Varsågod!
- watch out for – se upp för
- Bye! – Hej då!
- They're gone – De är borta.